Berol Quarter

London's most exciting regeneration project, with over £1bn of funding and 1,000 new homes delivered

Total transform is well underway.

A new neighbourhood awaits

Tottenham Hale is about to become home to a whole new neighbourhood, with over 10,000 new homes being delivered over the next few years. With a brand new public square, this promises to be an exciting space for local residents and businesses to grow into.

Written in History

The distinctive yellow Berol Pencil is a true icon, and was developed at the Berol Pencil Factory in Tottenham Hale, opening in 1907. The outbreak of World War II in 1939 saw the factory pause pencil manufacture and instead produce secret military equipment. Pencil manufacture recommenced in 1946 and in 1990's the factory was converted to provide managed workspace.

The factory is being sympathetically refurbished to include a new walkway at ground floor to link the Berol Yard with Ashley Road and the Berol Link into Down Lane Park.

One of the best connected places in North London with high frequency Underground and Rail services to central London

A vibrant new neighbourhood for creative traders and workers with super fast broadband

Direct access to over 520 acres of open space to explore and enjoy

Brand-new commercial units suitable for a range of retail, leisure and workspace uses

The Area

Tottenham is one of London's most diverse and vibrant districts

The bustling main roads and Tottenham Hale Station are only minutes walk away from tranquil nature reserves of Walthamstow Wetlands – a free nature reserve with 13 miles of paths to explore across an untamed, wildlife-friendly site. The new pedestrian thoroughfare of Berol Link will directly connect Berol Quarter to Down Lane Park. This much-loved local park provides a range of excellent sports and recreation facilities.

Local brewery Beavertown serves beer at Tottenham Hotspur Stadium, attracting visitors from all over the world.

A blurred high-speed train is shown in motion within a modern, brightly lit station. The train is white with blue and red accents. A prominent red pillar stands to the right of the train. The station walls are made of light-colored, square tiles. The word "Connections" is written in a large, white, cursive font across the middle of the image.

Connections

Tottenham Hale is one of the best connected places in London, with a 24 hour tube service providing connections to the West End within 16 minutes and just 11 minutes to King Cross. The refurbished station provides trains to the City of London and Stanstead Airport every 15 minutes and trains to Stratford International only 12 minutes away. The integrated bus station offers more local connections across London and beyond.

The Berol Quarter is a one minute walk from the station and offers large numbers of bicycle storage for those travelling on the cycle-superhighway, which passes the site and runs all the way to Liverpool Street Station in the City of London.

A rare opportunity to occupy a prominent and spacious commercial unit within one of London's most exciting regeneration areas. The premises comprise a total of approximately 13,327 sq. ft. over ground and first floors within a new landmark tower building.

Situated in the heart of Berol Quarter, adjacent to Watermead Way, the premises' location offers direct access to Tottenham Hale Station. Fast access to central London is provided by regular underground and national rail services.

Two similar open plan floor plates are available which can be let individually or together. Both floors benefit from superb natural light, with access to a communal landscaped courtyard and café. One Berol Yard sits adjacent to the historic Berol Pencil factory which now provides a range of offices and workspaces.
